

Before you purchase a mechanical system or services, shop and compare these important points:

Warranty

Others

Is the product warranty in writing?	Yes
Is the labor warranty in writing?	Yes
If the warranties are not fulfilled by the contractor, do you have specific legal remedies?	Yes
Will your product and/or labor warranty claims be handled by the same contractor who does the installation?	Yes
Can you contact the original contractor in person or by phone 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year, including holidays?	Yes
Does your contractor offer products with an industry-wide reputation for quality?	Yes

Reputation

Has the contractor you are considering been in the same business for at least 10 years?	Yes
Will the contractor you are presently considering be in business throughout the life of the warranty?	Yes
Is your warranty transferable?	Yes

Protection

Does your contractor provide liability protection against law suits?	Yes
Does your contractor provide protection against property damage?	Yes
Does your contractor provide trained service technicians and authorized parts for repair?	Yes
Will all electrical, plumbing and air conditioning be completed by licensed personnel?	Yes
Will your contractor obtain all permits required for your area on your behalf?	Yes
Will your contractor provide financing for the materials and labor required to complete the job?	Yes
Will your contractor offer a service agreement which extends repair coverage for parts and labor?	Yes
Will your contractor provide for workman's compensation if a laborer is injured on your property during the installation?	Yes
If not, will your homeowners insurance cover the cost of such injuries and loss of compensation in the event you are sued by the worker?
Will your contractor be responsible for any damages that might result due to installation to your personal property or your neighbor's property?	Yes
Will your contractor provide you with a written estimate/proposal with a three day cancellation clause for your protection once the proposal has been signed?	Yes
Is your contractor fully insured, licensed bonded and willing to show you all their credentials if requested?	Yes
Is your contractor's reputation as important to him as your home is to you?	Yes
Will your contractor guarantee that only first quality materials will be installed by fully trained, licensed and trustworthy installers?	Yes

At Megee Plumbing & Heating Co., we have taken the guesswork and risk out of making your home comfortable. We stake our 75 year reputation on our promise that the job will be done to your satisfaction. Others may do it cheaper, but no one does it better.